

Chart for the Stewart, Maclachlan, MacRae Ancestors of Thomas Maclachlan Stewart (1859 - 1933)

chart explanation      simplified version      Recent Generations >

The following chart starts (from the right column working left) with the parents of Thomas Maclachlan Stewart (Robert Buchanan Stewart and Isabella Kennedy Maclachlan). N.B. Robert Buchanan Stewart's parents (Robertson Buchanan Stewart and Martha Stewart) were cousins, both descended from Robert Stewart (1701 - ? ) and Janet McConachy (1710 - ? ).

Here is a list of the surnames that appear on this chart. Some appear with numerous variants, especially McKechany; these are shown on the chart where the variants appear in the records for an individual. Often the name will be spelt differently on birth and marriage certificates, and on the certificates for the individual's children. Standardisation of surname spelling is relatively recent.

N.B. The following list is of my ancestral surnames in this chart. There are many other surnames on this chart, but this index covers only those who are direct ancestors of mine. You can also use the Search facility in order to find other names. Please bear in mind the many possible spellings of any given name.

Buchanan*, Fellowes*, Kennedy, Lamont, Linton*, McConechy, McKechany, Maclachlan, Macrae, Moncrieff*, Muir - 1, Muir - 2, Robertson, Stewart.

* These names appear as forenames only but almost certainly are ancestral. Those shown in small italicised font are possible matches, based usually on IGI / LDS records. Much of the original data came from my great aunt Mrs Walker and my great uncle Rob Stewart, and more recently from my cousin Malcolm Beattie. I have subsequently tried to fill in the gaps via IGI / LDS records plus a few searches in the Scottish Registers.

A cousin, Joanna Thomas also supplied me with an alternative possible ancestry for Robertson Buchanan Stewart and his wife and cousin Martha Stewart regarding their fathers (Robert and John respectively) who were brothers. One thing that I can see which contradicts the original information I had from my great aunt and uncle is that the alternative chart shows John Stewart as the elder brother of Robert Stewart. If the IGI records are accurate, the alternative version also fits best the profile of an Emily Robson (born 1767) rather than Amelia Robertson (born 1768) who is, in my view, more likely to be the mother of Robertson Buchanan Stewart (born 1793). It is Emily Robson who is shown as having married Robert Stewart (born 1766), son of Robert Stewart (born 1720/1) and Isobel Spence, in the alternative version. Moreover, Amelia Robertson's mother appears to be a Lamont, a name with strong connections with Buchanan. However, the christian names of the various children tie in better with the alternative version. When I get time I intend to check the original registry entries to see if I can work out which version of events is correct.
